

James Greco

James loves learning and data! James started his career in neurogenetic research but quickly transitioned to focusing on tech start-ups. James currently works with the Sales Engineering at Lightspeed team to help determine new product features based on customer feedback and customize loyalty solutions for both retailers and restaurateurs.